

AXIWI®

Communication Systems

Global Archery - Official North American Distributor

The AXIWI communication system is a wireless full duplex and handsfree communication system. Six people can simultaneously communicate with each other by the open line connection, just like a telephone conversation. The communication system is used for communication during tours, conferences, meetings, sports and translating simultaneously. We offer the AXIWI in two models: the AXIWI AT-350 and the AXIWI AT-320.

"I love my AXIWI®'s. They are so easy to wear, have great sound with excellent clarity with my partner, enabling us to be in sync all the time and provide the best game for the players to showcase their talents."

"As a volleyball official, reliable and clear communication with our partners are crucial to our success! AXIWI®'s have been the best radios after comparing multiple ones from other carriers. I like them for so many reasons: ease of pairing, sound quality, durability, and they are just so darn good looking! Their size makes them so easy to travel with and their battery life is long lasting. It has been a pleasure to use these headsets for years. Thanks so much John for making such great radios!"
